The DHS World is reflected in all that the students do.

World Of Our Own

Our world is composed of little things, Of vitality, excitement, and fun, A competitive spirit, a will to succeed, A warm, happy place in the sun.

Seeing new faces, making new friends, Learning new things every day, Like algebra, science, Latin, and French, And speech, trying to think what to say.

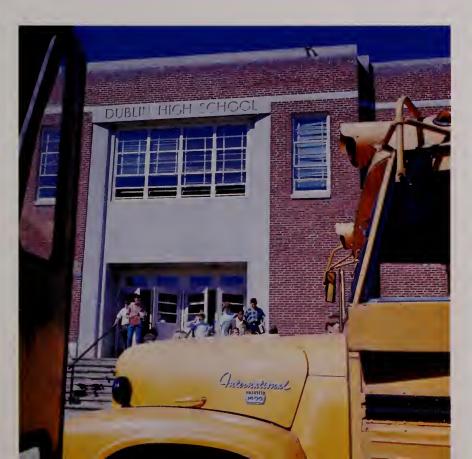

Our world is our own, to build as we please, It's behind us wherever we've gone. We will build it on dreams, with a foundation that's firm, We will build up a WORLD OF OUR OWN.

. . . Rhonda Murdock

Mr. Johnson prepares seniors for their World.

Even the faculty relaxes during the direction of the Senior Class Play. $\,$

World Of Student Activity

"Now class, we will recite today's lessons."

Make up work is difficult.

"I was sure I had that announcement around here somewhere".

"Let's all pause for a moment of rest".

World Of The Classroom

World Of Duke Fans

Cheerleaders boost spirit before the big game.

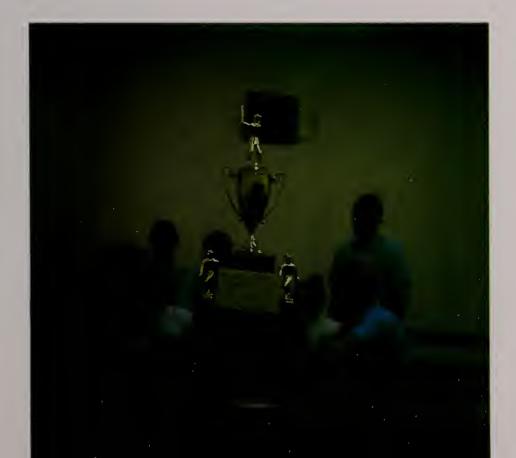

"Charlie Bee" puts in another appearance at the Pep Rally.

World Of Victory

Pride is winning the New River Valley Baseball Championship.

A teacher lives in many worlds—the world of classrooms, the world of competition, the world of learning. A teacher can be many things—an educator, a counselor, a friend.

A teacher gives unselfishly of himself in order to better his students, that they in turn may better their worlds.

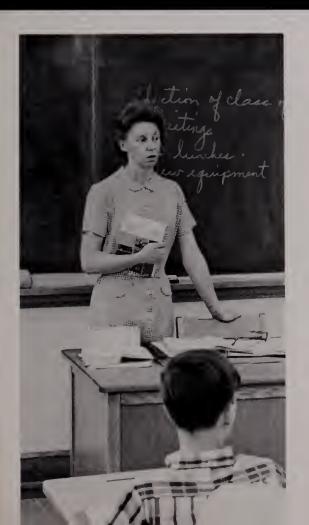

Mrs. Ann Armbrister

Attending every basketball game . . . giving spelling words every Thursday . . . never giving up . . . denying the fact that there are slow students . . . assigning prologues memorization . . . holding firm to one opinion . . . trying to make grammar interesting . . . laughing at just the right moment . . . grading mountains of term papers . . . devoting every spare moment to the improvement of young minds . . . constantly reminding students that "everytime they open their mouths they either use or misuse English" . . . heading the English Department . . . chaperoning the Sophomore Dance . . . working as wife, mother and educator, MRS. ANN ARMBRISTER plays an important role in the world of the classroom.

A teacher can laugh, can cry, can reprimand. His world is made up of fulfillment and the knowledge of a battle, hard-fought and won.

Miss Peggy Warden

Making out exams . . . grading projects . . . relating faces and names . . . devoting a free period to a student who needs extra help . . . sponsoring the various class dances . . . arguing over decoration ideas . . . worrying about last minute changes . . . unselfishly giving time to better the students, so that they in turn may better their worlds . . . planning class assignments . . . writing notes on the board . . . learning the abilities of each student . . . earning the respect of teachers and students alike . . . The world of the 1969 Maple Leaves centers on MISS PEGGY WARDEN.

World Of Entertainment

A Sock Hop is the final touch to a victorious game.

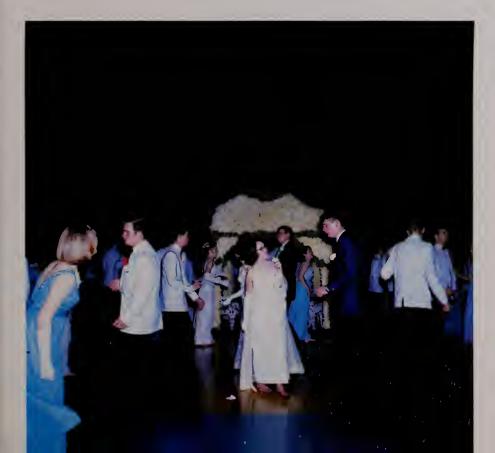

Enjoyment is found in the World of Yesterday.

Miss D.H.S. represents Our World of beauty.

The Junior and Senior Prom brings the Senior World to an end.

World Of Formality

Going up?

Study hard . . . think carefully . . . take your time during test. $\,$

Don't look down!

World
Of Concentration

Another black mark for someone.

World Of Art

Sketching . . . painting . . . sculpturing are elements of the World of Art.

The creative and imaginative World of D.H.S. will glow eternally.

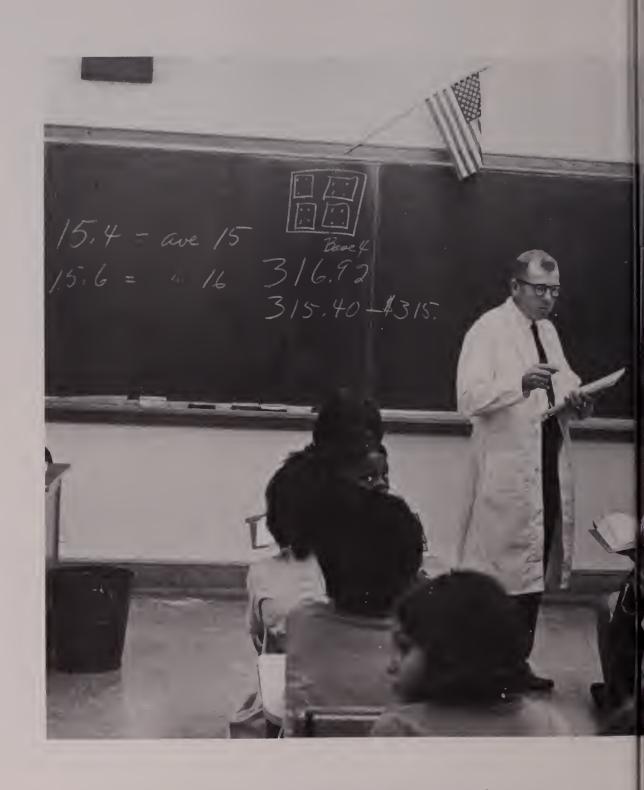

Don't look down . . . there no net below.

World Of Physical Fitness

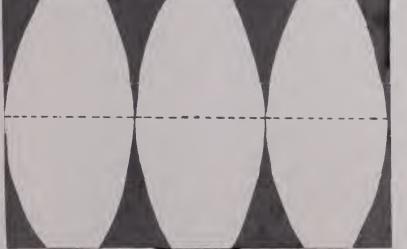

Look out below.

Each year from the senior class the administration, faculty, and fellow seniors select those students who are noted for their outstanding qualities of exceptional leadership, scholastic achievement, participation in extracurricular activities, and good character.

An "OUTSTANDING SENIOR" has proved himself valuable not only to the school but also to himself.

This year the honor of "outstanding senior" is gratefully bestowed upon these students.

Innovation — Key Word Of '69 Speech-Drama Program

Repetition is often good, but at times it destroys originality and creativity. When this occurs, INNOVATION is needed. INNOVATION has been a key word used in the vernacular of this year's speech and drama program at D.H.S. Pantomines, afterdinner speech banquets, heckling speeches, debates, play production and one-act plays have added to the versatility sought in this phase of the English curriculum. Future expansion of the speech and drama curriculum is a desired outcome as the speech and drama department ardently strives for INNOVATION.

Phyllis Flynn and Vanessa Brown learn that speech class has outside benefits such as speech banquets.

The speech class listens as Faye Todd expounds on her concept of "The Ideal Community" during the after-dinner speech banquet.

Kathy Farmer enhances speeches by dressing formally.

Left with only one district starter to defend the "New River title", prospects for another fine season appeared extremely discouraging for the Duke football team, but with the leadership of a handful of seniors (8), the Dukes proved that they would be hard to embarrass.

By mid-season, the Dukes began to form into a good football team reaching their peak when they upset undefeated Wytheville.

With many talented underclassmen on the squad, the Dukes view the future with optimism.

The 1968–69 basketball team opened their season with high hopes of making the tournament. The squad was a young and inexperienced club but had high hopes and a good fighting spirit.

The team had only two returning senior lettermen, Manious Black and Fred Stanley. Other non-lettermen seniors were Jack Hall, Richard Lewis, and Cecil Wolford. In addition to the above, this year's team consists of juniors Bobby Hanks, Mike Armbrister, Mike Lee, Elroy Eaves, Preston Beamer, sophomores Richard Austin, Kim Repass, Stuart Kelly, and freshman, Nicky Carden who broke into the squad as a starter.

Height and inexperience were the two biggest problems facing the team. The team posted two wins and three loses going into the Christmas holidays and prospects look good for the team making the tournament this year.

Baseball

The baseball team reached the ultimate goal of all athletic teams in 1968 — the District Championship. The winning of the championship was no accident. Most of the boys had been playing baseball for three straight years and had been working toward that goal.

The team was able to reach this plateau because of hard work and a very good attitude toward all individuals connected with the team.

To show the team's spirit, an example of their playing may be in order. Early in the season they were beaten by C'burg by a score of 5–4. When they met C'burg later in the season it was no contest. Dublin beat C'burg in the second encounter by a score of 9–1.

In the New River District tournament, Dublin defeated Hillsville. Dublin then defeated Radford for the District Crown by a score of 8–3 on the Bobcats' home field.

Both tournament wins were played away from home, but the Dukes like all good teams were able to defeat the opponents on their home field.

Mr. Walker

Building a world is a time-consuming, difficult task. The efforts of the Maple Leaves Staff were frequently improved and reinforced by a number of willing assistants not specifically responsible for the production of this book. We, the 1969 Maple Leaves Staff wish to thank Mr. Maiden, Miss Lawrence, Miss Duncan, and Mr. Garfield Ramsey for their contributions to this publication.

Maple Leaves Staff Says

Thank You!
